BATTLE STILL RAGES

German Counter Attacks Keep Allies
Engaged in Vicinity of Positions
Recently Captured.—Ru-manians Defeated.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Sept. 30.—British losses in September were at the rate of more than 3,800 a day. The casualties on all fronts reported in this month were 5,087, of which 1,141 were killed, 3,500 officers and 114,110 men.

Less Than August Losses.
Heavy as were British losses in September, they were less than those of August, which were 127,445, daily average of 4,127. In July, the first month of the Somme offensive, the losses were about half those of August or September, notwithstanding the fact that in July the British stormed the first line German defense. The casualties that month were 50,870, totaling for the three months of the Somme drive of 307,169.

French and English press dispatches report that considering the character of the fighting, the losses of the allies on the Somme are low. An official British statement further says the British losses in the preceding few days had been small. This is attributed largely to increased effectiveness of the artillery.

German Figures Larger.
German reports declare the allies are suffering large losses which are said to be out of all proportion to the gains. The Overseas News agency estimates that the British and French losses in the Somme battle up to September 15, amounted to 500,000.

Since January 28 the British government has issued no figures of total losses. Up to that time the daily average of losses from the beginning of the war was slightly more than 1,000. Although the casualties at present are about four times those of the first sixteen months of the war, this increase is due not only to the offensive operations now in progress, but to the fact that the British and French are fighting on a much larger front in the earlier period of the war.

German Counter Attacks.
London, Sept. 30.—Unusually heavy German counter attacks on the Somme front in consequence of German counter attacks. A division of the new British army was engaged. The official account of three operations follows:

During the night the enemy shelled heavily our battlement south of the Ancre. We consolidated the ground won yesterday morning at Des-fontaines farm, northwest of LeSars, and improved our position in the thickly wooded area. Enemy counter attacks were broken down by the heavy bombardment of our positions and by the fighting in this section yesterday was very severe, and our troops engaged a division of the new army showed great endurance and resolution.

A successful raid was made by a London territorial battalion south of Neuville St. Vaast, where the enemy's trenches were entered and prisoners were taken.

Further French Progress.
Paris, Sept. 30.—The French have made further progress in the Rancourt area, according to the official statements issued by the war office today.

Rumanians Defeated.
Berlin, Sept. 30.—Troops under General Von Falkenhayn, former chief of the general staff, have won a battle at Hermannstadt, Transylvania, defeating strong positions of the Russians. The war office announced today.

Rain Bombs on Sofia.
Paris, Sept. 30.—The war office announced today that a French aero-plane starting yesterday from Macedonian front, passed over Bulgaria, dropping bombs on Sofia, and continued its flight to Bucharest.

On the Macedonian front is reported.

ARREST FOUR MORE IN BLACKMAIL PLOT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago, Sept. 30.—Two more men and a woman were arrested here today by agents of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice in connection with the operation of the so-called Mann act blackmailers' syndicate. The arrests were made after an all night's vigil by federal agents and a squad of city detectives.

Two of those held are John E. Golden, names of John E. Lawrence and Mrs.
R. E. Golden.

Federal officers are holding a number of letters written by a wealthy Chicago girl, Mrs. Joseph Le Duc, who the girls lured him to an apartment
and with the aid of confederates forced him to pay $5,000. Attorneys for the girls claim the letters prove that the woman wronged the girls and then made payment as a recompense.

More Blackmailers Taken.
Alleged blackmailers of a man described as a "wealthy eastern manufacturer," were taken into custody by federal agents in a raid on an apartment house today.

The prisoners are two men and a woman. Elaborate opium smoking parlors and large quantities of habit forming drugs were seized in the raid.
The man said the letters were taken in custody today are R. H. Golden, who said he was a real estate agent; Mrs.
Grace Golden, his wife, and John E.
Lawrence, said to be a traveling salesman.

Identity Kept Secret.
Hinton Clabaugh, head of the Chicago bureau of federal department of justice, withheld all information about the identity of the blackmailers' allied victims. He also declined to say how much money the alleged blackmailers secured.
It is an entirely new case, however, Mr. Clabaugh said.

WILSON'S ACCUSER GETS A HOT REPLY; DISLOYALTY SCORED

President Wants No Votes From Men
Like O'Leary of Truth Society,
Who Makes Pro-British Charges.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 30.—President Wilson authorized the publication here today of a telegram from Jeremiah A. O'Leary, president of the American Truth society, criticizing his alleged pro-British policies. Republicans here declare that the president was "smoked out" into publishing the message, as he knew it would be made public anyway, and it would be to his advantage to give it out himself along with his answer to it.

Message Received.
The O'Leary message was as follows:

"Again we greet you with a popular disapproval of your pro-British policies. Last year from the Twenty-third New York congressional district and now from your own state and from the voters of your own party, Senator Marine won because the voters of New Jersey do not want any trucking to the British empire, nor do they approve the dictatorship over congress.
Your foreign policies, your failure to secure compliance with all American rights, your jealousy with the British empire, your approval of war loans
the ammunition traffic, are issues in this campaign. Do you know that William S. Bennett, a republican congressman, ran in the democratic primaries in the Twenty-third New York congressional district and polled 36
per cent of the total democratic vote against his regular democratic opponent? Anglo-American and British interests may control newspapers, but they don't control votes.

People Not Followers.
"The people may be followers, but they are not followers of the newspapers. When sir, will you respond to these evidences of popular disapproval of your policies by action? The Marine election and Bennett vote
proves you have lost support among democrats. Every vote for Marine was a vote against you as was every Marine election and Bennett vote
Marine in the democratic primaries in the Twenty-third congressional district.

"JEREMIAH A. O'LEARY,
"President, American Truth Society."

Sends Tart Reply.
President Wilson's answer follows:
"Shadow Lawn, Sept. 29, 1916.

Your telegram received. I would feel deeply mortified to have you or anybody like you vote for me. Since you have access to many disloyal Americans and have not, I will ask you to convey this message to them.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Long Beach, N. J., Sept. 30.—President Wilson's program for today is the busiest arranged for him since he came to Shadow Lawn. This morning
he reviewed the four New Jersey
regiments of infantry at Seagirt,
New Jersey, and this afternoon he will receive and address members of young men's democratic clubs from New York.

Wilson was greeted at Seagirt by touting of auto horns and applause from a crowd gathered around the parade grounds. Wearing silk hat, the president first rode around and viewed the troops in company of Brigadier General Edward Hines of the New Jersey national guard. His horse was very spirited, and several times a strong wind almost blew Mr.
Wilson's hat away.

MOOSE AND G. O. P. JOIN IN MICHIGAN

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 30.—The coming of Colonel Roosevelt today was regarded by local republicans and progressives as a last step in the reconciliation of those parties in Michigan.

A feature of the parade was a float
in which were seated the two chairmen of the fifth republican state convention of 1912. On top of this float was a dove of peace.

A barbecue at the circus grounds
preceded the speech-making.

ARGENTINA WHEAT SITUATION CAUSES BOOST IN PRICES

Report of Drought Damage to South American Crop Responsible for Two Jumps During Last Week.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Argentina continued to be the center of interest in the eyes of the grain trade of the world.
New high record prices for 1916 were scored here twice this week on wheat,
largely as a result of drought damage
in Argentina.

Top prices of the year in wheat were first reached on Monday, and then outdone again on Friday. The immediate incentive for earlier record breaking of values was a report that the drought conditions had become so threatening in regard to future supplies that Argentine dealers were withholding exports offered. In the latter instance of skyrocketing prices,
the chief reason was news of continued absence of rain in the drought district, after reports were received that already irreparable damage had been done to the crop. It was a notable fact, too, that the chief bearish reason of the week's temporary drop in quotations on Wednesday, was due to incorrect forecasts of the bureau of the aridity in Argentina.

Contrary to expectations of many wheat traders, the market effects of the decision of Greece to join the An-gio-French allies, turned out to be almost negligible. One explanation was that the event had been to a great degree discounted in advance. It was also said that one result of the change in policy would be to facilitate Greece's purchases of breadstuffs on this side of the Atlantic. In this connection bulls were much disposed to lay stress on figures from a leading authority purporting to show that in less than three months the United States had already exported to Europe nearly half of this year's domestic surplus. Corn and oats this morning were quoted at prices but little different from those of a week before.

HUSBAND CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER

Officials Find That New Hampshire Woman Met Death By Strangulation.—Bullet Wound In Head.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Mountain View, N. H., Sept. 30.—

Frederick L. Small was formally arraigned in the district court today and held for hearing October 5 on charge of murder resulting from the death of his wife, Florence A. Small, whose body was found yesterday in the ruins of their cottage. The court action followed the finding of coroner's inquest that Mrs. Small died of strangulation. Small pleaded not guilty.

Another development of the day was the statement made by B. Frank Horne, medical referee, that his investigation disclosed the person who killed Mrs. Small and fired the house in an endeavor to conceal the crime,
had first shot her, strangled her and beat her over the head. This statement was made after the discovery of a bullet in the woman's head and finding in the ruins of a revolver of similar caliber.

Sheriff Chandler stated that the husband, on his return yesterday from Boston, said Mrs. Small had gone to the door and bid him goodbye when he was leaving home on Thursday. Small left here at four o'clock that afternoon and the fire was discovered at ten o'clock that night.

AUTO BANDIT HEAD IS FINED A THOUSAND

thieves, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to serve one year in prison by Judge Sabbath today.

CHICAGO MAN STILL HAS FAITH IN WIFE SHOT IN MAN'S APARTMENTS IN PHILADELPHIA HOTEL BY JEALOUS WOMAN

Mrs. Harry Belzer (left) and Mrs. Joseph Le Duc.

"I don't know why my wife was in a Philadelphia hotel with J. C.
Gravuer, but I believe she was either lured there or she was drugged," said
Joseph Le Duc, wealthy Chicago merchant, after his wife had been shot
in Gravuer's apartments by Mrs.
Harry Belzer of Brooklyn. Mrs. Le Duc will live, but the jealous woman who committed the crime succeeded in killing both Gravuer and herself.
Mr. Le Duc was shown the hotel register with "Mr. J. C. Gravuer and wife, New York," inscribed. "I won't believe it," he said passionately.
"These things mean only that innocence has been seduced and a man considered a friend sought to wrong me terribly."

CZAR OF RUSSIA AND ROUMANIAN KING DISCUSS DEVELOPMENTS OF WAR

King Ferdinand of Roumania (left) in conference with Czar Nicholas.

Several times during the past year it has been reported that secret conferences between the entente rulers have been held in various parts of Europe. The reports, however, all were vigorously denied officially. In this picture both Czar Nicholas and King Ferdinand are smiling, seemingly little worried over the outcome of the war.

Indian Baby Show Proves That Red Man is Not Deteriorating

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 30.—That the American Indian is not deteriorating is the decision made from the examination of Indian babies at Bad River fair, at Oganah, this week, in connection with the Indian baby show.

Twenty-two Chippewa babies were measured, weighed and calipered and were given rigid physical tests.
The report of the examiners is that the subjects average better than white babies, who were examined at a recent baby show at Ashland.

The winning female baby was Wanema Dennis, a quarter-blood Chippewa, eighteen months old, whose mother was Charlotte Brissette, of Red Cliff reservation, and whose father is Ben Dennis of the Bad River reservation.

The winning male baby is Darle-ton Francis James, aged four months,
a quarter-blood Chippewa, whose mother is a Menominee Indian (Lizzie Martin), and whose father is Stevens
James, a Bad River Chippewa.

The father spent last winter in Arizona, where he was treated for incipient tuberculosis, and the child is an open air baby, the family sleeping out in the open on account of the father. The baby is a superb physical specimen.

The contention of Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Sells, that the Indian race is shown by this examination as well as by Superintendent Everest's records, which show that the birth rate is increasing among Wisconsin Chippewa Indians, increasing their number year by year.

Twelve deaths out of a total of thirty-two of the reservation last year were from children under three years old, but the percentage of infant mortality is decreasing among Indians.

Tuberculosis and diseases contracted from white men are the greatest scourges, ten out of the total of thirty-
two deaths being from tuberculosis, while there are 14 tubercular cases
out of 1,042 Indians in the Bad River reservation.

The Indian babies are usually better physical specimens than their white cousins, and the plan is to protect the naturally robust race from deteriorating diseases.

ALDERMAN HELD FOR STATE BANK FRAUD

Marquette, Wis., Sept. 30.—Fred E.
Harrison, Menominee, Mich., alderman, was placed under arrest last night by Undersheriff Emmett Butts, charged with attempting to defraud
the state bank at Crivets, Wis.

Harrison is a poultry expert and has been prominent in national poultry circles. He admits civil shortage, concerning the Crivets bank shortage,
but denies criminal intent. The amount involved is variously estimated at from $14,000 to $18,000.

The shortage in the bank's funds
was discovered a month ago and resulted in the resignation of Ralph F.
Herman, the cashier. Herman was arrested today at Manitowish, charged with defrauding the Crivets bank.
Relatives of Herman and Harrison himself, it is said, have made up some of the shortage. Harrison has not yet been arraigned and will be released
on bail furnished by Menominee business men.

SHORTEN LORD'S PRAYER, PROTESTANT EPISCOPALIANS.
St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—Prominent clergymen and laymen and laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church were gathered here today for the opening tomorrow of the church's triennial convention which will continue through the month.

A sub-committee of the Commission on Revising the Book of Common Prayer will recommend the omission
from the Lord's Prayer of the words
"For Thine is the Kingdom and the Power and the Glory Forever, Amen."
In requesting the omission the subcommittee will say the words constitute a part of the Doxology added by early translators, and that they are not in the original text of the Holy Scriptures.

The omission, if adopted, will make the Episcopal version of the prayer identical with the Roman Catholic.
It is expected that opposition may develop.

ments Lord Robert Cecil's statement in London last night, was received in dispatches from London arriving here

and September 24, no less than 262

HOPE TO INSURE USE OF VOTING MACHINES

Oshkosh, Sept. 30.—Oshkosh, Milwaukee and other cities of the state owning voting machines will all understand them without question at the November presidential election. Councilman Florian Lamberti and Corporation Counsel F.
J. Eaton, went to Madison today and had a conference with a representative of the governor and attorney general. They were informed the matter of the use of voting machines would be brought up at a special session of the legislature to be held soon, on the subject of votes of Wisconsin soldiers now at the front.

So much agitation in favor of the machines has been raised, that it is proposed to introduce at the special session an amendment to the election laws, that will enable cities to use machines and meet all the requirements of a presidential election. This was stated after the conference. The prospect of using the machines will be discussed at the conference.

Some of the cities having the machines are having the mechanical machines.

WILL STUDY HARDY CABBAGE AT RACINE

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Racine, Wis., Sept. 30.—A delegation of twenty-five members of the Vegetable Growers' association, which just closed its convention at Chicago, arrived here early today for a tour of inspection of the large produce farms
in this vicinity. The party will be joined here by the regents of the University of Wisconsin, headed by President C. R. Van Hise of that institution.

One of the special purposes of the trip is to inspect the disease resisting species of cabbage which has been developed by the large produce farms
in this vicinity. The party will be joined here by the regents of the University of Wisconsin, headed by President C. R. Van Hise of that institution.

The cabbage crop this year is unusually small in this vicinity, only those growers having the disease-resisting system being successful in growing the vegetable.

Head of American Expeditionary poses Capture of City.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 30.—Francisco Villa, with 600 men was in the Santa Clara Canyon district on September 22, according to most reliable information, planning to capture the town of Namiquipa and two other places.

This is the substance of a message received at the southern department headquarters from General Pershing.
He says various stories of the bandit chief's whereabouts are about but that this seems the most credible. Reports have reached him, he adds, that the military of Villa have been working throughout the district, paralleling
the American line. Cruces is only about thirty miles south of El Valle,
where American troops are stationed.
The American commander in Mexico also transmitted the names of Americans killed and wounded in the encounter with Carranza soldiers in saloon in El Valle. Wagoner Andrew J. Watson, belonging to the supply troop of fifth cavalry, was killed, and Private Wm. A. Cook, D troop, fifth

URGE KANSAS FOLK TO "BLEED FOR DRY"

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Dodge City, Kan., Sept. 30.—Kansas
folk who have been dry for 34 years,
were urged today by the prohibition campaigners to bleed a little if necessary for national prohibition. The danger of complacency over the state's condition is to be avoided, they declare.

The state that has been one of the pioneers for state-wide prohibition should be in the thick of the fight for a dry nation, in Landry, the vice presidential candidate, said.

"Do not be complacent about a sinking ship just because you do not own it. As a matter of fact, you do own a part of the national ship and we are all aboard it."

Art Work Received by Miss Charlotte Prichard Through Kindness of a Friend Adds to Club's Collection.

The gift of a fine picture, to add to the already choice collection, was the pleasant surprise tendered to the members of the Art League on Friday at their meeting at Library hall. It is a choice mezzotint, an English historical painting, and an English historical painting, and an English historical painting. The picture is entitled, "The Death of the First Born," and has some wonderful architectural effects in the scenes of Assyrian life, which it portrays.

The presentation to the league was made by Miss Charlotte Prichard, who said in part that the picture came into her possession through the kindness of a friend, who knew of her great interest in the Art League. She then gave an interesting little sketch of the artist and the character of his work. The picture is beautifully and appropriately framed and will be a great addition to the list of pictures already owned by the league.

In addition to this pleasing episode, some musical offerings were presented at yesterday's meeting. Delegates to the state convention to be held in Milwaukee early in November were chosen. The delegates were: Mrs. J. McGowan, Pender, Heims and Nuzum. The alternates were Mesdames Blackman, Cunningham, Lee, Reynolds and Miss Prichard.

Reports of the biennial meeting held last June in New York City, were given by the delegates. Mrs. Nuzum and Mrs. Woods. Mrs. Woods gave a general description of the gathering which she said was the biggest convention of women ever held anywhere, 20,000 being present. Mrs. Woods spoke of the spirit of the general scheme of decorations, which transformed the entire front of the armory hall into a beautiful Venetian landscape with terraces, banks of lovely flowers, one hundred dozen American Beauty roses being a mere spot of color, and $5,000 for hunting a mere incident in the whole scheme. She spoke of the fine work in citizenship attempted by the women; how Mrs. Pennbacker, the president, had traveled over 200,000 miles during the course of the convention, and how Mrs. Woods had come all the way from Alaska to attend the meetings. That the women were determined to find out everything about the problems of New York City that was possible, was evident. They went to the immigrant stations, explored the city playgrounds, investigated the juvenile courts and attended the meetings of the night sessions of the municipal courts in their criminal cases. Altogether, the days were full of the good things offered the delegates.

Mrs. Woods in her remarks, spoke particularly of the business accomplished by the convention, and the wonderful art programs, given to those interested in that line of work. Visits to artists' studios and beautiful landscape gardens, and a reception in the Metropolitan museum, were offered to the delegates, as well as inspection of private collections of pictures, and the entire into the homes of the wealthy residents, where their exclusive decorations, tapestries and libraries, not often seen by visitors. Artistic post cards, programs and many souvenirs of the convention were distributed.

The programs were given out for the next year's work, and the Art League will be held October 12.

Mrs. J. Taylor of Janesville called on his pupils here yesterday. Mrs. George Wolfe, Sr., attended the W. R. C. convention in Madison yesterday. Mrs. Moore and daughter, Mrs. O'Keefe have returned from a several weeks' visit with the former sister at Greenville, Ill.

Notwithstanding all the decline in hog values this week prices here are relatively higher than all outside markets. Chicago's hog receipts yesterday at $10.80, same as Buffalo's top, and 70¢ above Sioux City. Average price of hogs at Chicago today, against $10.15 Thursday; $11.07 a year ago, 48¢ a year ago and $8.14 two years ago. Good Cattle Are Strong. More than half the cattle received here yesterday were killed direct from packers from outside markets, where prices are lower than at Chicago. Sheep and lamb trade closed weak at lowest prices of the week and $10¢ to 1.25 off from Sept. 11, high day of the month. Best lambs offered yesterday sold at $10 with top kind quotable at $10.25. COAL HIGH ENOUGH; FULL TON, PLEASE MR.

City Sealer Finds Company's Scales Wrong to Detriment of Purchaser Who Loses 200 Pounds Each Load.

With nine dollar coal already a fact and with vision of a coal yard to eleven City Sealer of Weights Walter Helms, who buys a ton or two occasionally, himself, gave the load on the scale of a local coal yard the double ton over, and then tripled it one day this week. "I looked like a mighty short ton to the City Sealer and appeared to be a proposition where the coal decreased as the price increased," Edward Helms, who measures the equations in that way he gave the coal yard scales a test. If the man who had ordered the ton knew how many pounds he was getting at the time the Sealer stopped the load, safe to say the purchaser would find another place for his coal. The load was a hundred pounds off and it was not in favor of the buyer either. Investigation showed that one end of the scales had settled. It was adjusted at Mr. Helms' orders. The city sealer filed his report with City Clerk J. P. Hammann for the quarter ending today. Summarizing, fifty-seven liquid measures, sixty-eight dry measures, five pump platform, twelve counter, ten wagon and one spring scale were inspected; two pumps, those of the type used in grocery stores and for garages for gasoline and kerosene were condemned for repairs. Five weight scales were adjusted to standard and one platform scale was condemned for repairs.

NO INCREASE IN COAL PRICE HERE

Chicago Must Pay Ten or More for Hard Coal, But Janesville Dealers See No Increase.

In spite of the great advance in the price of coal in many of the larger cities there has been no raise in Janesville. Hard coal is still selling for nine dollars, while in Chicago it is up to ten dollars or better. Dealers here state that coal is plentiful, and although it is hard to predict the trend of the market throughout the winter there is no reason to believe that the price will be advanced. It is said by some of the smaller dealers that they are now selling on the smallest possible margin, and that should there be a scarcity in the market the price may rise. This is a doubtful possibility, however, and it is probable that the Janesville householder will not have to suffer any further burden of the high cost of living by an increase in the price of coal. There follows a list of prices on the various grades of coal as quoted by a large dealer this morning:

Fea coal	$8.00 per ton

parent knows but little about the school room because the place is seldom or never visited. The child is supposed to be in the hands of the teachers and the home takes a rest while knowledge is being imparted.

But there are teachers and teachers. All of them are considered competent when their mental equipment meets requirements, regardless of whether they possess tact, love for children, and the ability to win their hearts and develop their minds along the lines of least resistance. Next to the home the school is responsible in large degree for success or failure, and a perfect understanding of child life and sympathy with it is necessary to success.

Every community is started, now and then, with some tragedy which shocks sensibilities and disturbs the current of social life. Some young man who led an exemplary life, and in whom everybody had confidence, becomes a defaulter, or some girl of good moral character makes a mistake and goes wrong.

We hold up our hands in holy horror, and our hearts are filled with righteous indignation as we say, "We don't understand how the thing could have been done," forgetful of the fact that possibly we might have shared the same fate had we been subjected to the same temptation.

We don't always understand the peculiar strain which comes to people who fall because we have never had the experience, and that is the reason why "the charity which covereth a multitude of sins" is a cardinal virtue. With a better understanding and a broader sympathy for human weakness, we will have a brighter day and more hopeful conditions.

It is said that two men who have been lifelong friends never know each other until they become partners and engage in business together. If this is true in the world of business, and it is, how much more is it true of the home where the boy and girl, infatuated, and consumed by sentiment and emotion, enter into a life contract, and start out on the "journey" for better or for worse.

The ideal home is based on a study of understanding which commences soon after the fateful knot is tied, and continues until the "two hearts beat as one." The study is not always infatuated for it is sometimes difficult to realize that the Mary of the kitchen is the same Mary who seemed so attractive in girlhood, or that the John who complains about the breakfast is the same John of care-free days.

If children come to bless the home the course of study takes on new significance and as time goes on the discovery is often made that it is easier to understand other people's children than our own, yet the fact remains that children are very much alike.

Our neighbor's boy is a mechanical genius while our boy couldn't make a willow whistle without splitting the bark, yet he can trade jack-knives to the queen's taste. If we understood him, and cared enough about his future, we would encourage his commercial instincts, and in time have the satisfaction of seeing him in business for himself.

We sometimes wish that our girl was as modest and retiring as our neighbor's daughter across the street, overlooking the fact that the inspiration to conduct usually comes from the home.

One of the most common weaknesses of our frail humanity is found in the fact that we understand other people much better than we understand ourselves. The study of introspection is never very alluring and the inclination is to "pass it up." As a result, many of us go through life untaught by errors and so consumed with conceit that our influence is nil.

The world will be brighter and better when the whole field of understanding is more thoroughly cultivated, and there will be many garden spots, where thorns and thistles now abound, when the old command, "know thyself," is more generally observed.

Here is a patent all should use. To save your breath, also your shoes.

"Take this letter, please, Miss Mutch," said Adam Adams, head of the famous Adams Vinegar Foundry, Mr. Seattle, Wicks, Wicksburg, Wicks, Virginia. Dear Sir, Yours of the 33rd instant received and contents noted, and would say—

"Varied on the telephone, Mr. Adams," said Ariovistus the office boy. "It's Mrs. Adams, sir."

"Tut, tut," tutted Mr. Adams. "This is my busy day. Ariovistus, follow me with the Talkaphone. Put in record No. 23456."

And he went to the telephone and said into it, "Hello, Rhubarba? Yes, my dear. Yes, my dear. Yes, my dear."

Rather quickly for an office boy, Ariovistus appeared with the Talkaphone. Mr. Adams adjusted it to the telephone and, returning to his desk, resumed his dictation. Three times a minute the Talkaphone said, "Yes, my dear," in Mr. Adams' voice, and Ariovistus stood by to start the record over each time it ran down.

At the end of twenty minutes Mr. Adams rose again, went to the telephone, and said, "Really my dear, I'm afraid I'll have to return to work now. Yes, my dear. Good-by."

And he hung up and winked at the Talkaphone.

TURN IN THEIR UNIFORMS AND GET THEIR PAY

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—Members of Company G infantry of Madison have several hundred dollars lying in Captain George O'Connell's safe and they have to do is to come and get it. This money is to be paid to members of the company who were discharged because of physical defects, but only after they have turned in their uniforms. Their addresses are unknown to the government.

Otters' Favorite Game.

The favorite game of otters seems to be that of sliding down hill. They climb to the top of a high snow ridge, lie flat upon the stomach, with the forefeet bent backward, and giving themselves an impulse with the hind legs, glide down the hill head foremost. In summer they select a sloping river bank which has a clayey soil, and where the water at its base is of considerable depth. Climbing this bank, they start from the top, slip swiftly over the sloping ground, and plunge into the water.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

The Quiet Life.

I do not want to be a King potentate or anything like that. I do not want to fight. I want to get my sleep at night. I can go home and sit at ease. And hold my kid won my knees. And look out on my garden plot. And be contented with my lot. I can take in a picture show. And not be nervous when I go. For fear some little enemy will drop a pyrotechnic bomb on me. I get no diplomatic note.

Which stirs me up and gets my goat. No murder upon my soul. For world dominion's not my goal. I'm happy as a common loach. Who's got a home, also a job. I would not trade my state of mind with any one of royal kind. No blood of infants stains my hands; I have invaded no one's lands. I would not trade my old felt hat for all the caps any crazy realm. That seeks to slay and overwhelm. Gold braid and blanking sabres puny. To me are merely useless junk. I would not trade my little cot for any castle they have got. Who go forth girdled for the fray. To burn and loot, outrage and slay.

The Temperamental Lantern.

When Huntley Russell goes out on his tours through the small towns of Michigan, lecturing upon the state magic lantern which shows views of famous Michigan buildings and personages.

At one point in the lecture Huntley shows a picture of Louis Holtzky, the famous criminal at Marquette prison. He was lecturing in a small town on the Muskegon interurban line the other night and said: "The next picture shows upon the screen will be that of the most celebrated criminal in Michigan." The amateur lantern operator then threw upon the screen a picture of ex-President Taft of the University of Michigan.

"That is wrong," yelled the lecturer to the man who was operating the machine. "Put on that other portrait."

The operator found the portrait of Holtzky, but in his excitement got the slide in upside down. Huntley gazed at the screen a moment in disgust and then said: "This is not only the most noted criminal in Michigan, but he is also a great acrobat. When this picture was taken he was standing on his head."

Nasty Footnotes.

"Thump, thump, bang, bang," went the piano. "What are you trying to play, Jane?" called out her father from the next room.

"It's an exercise from my new instruction book," she answered. "Music," she answered.

"Well, I know you were playing with your feet," he said grimly, "but don't step so heavily on the keys—it disturbs my thoughts."

Clean Up.

Clean the back yard and the court. Give the health board all support. Don't mind Demon Dirt's fierce wrath.

Your fair city needs a bath. Swat the deadly, germ fly. Soak him on the back or eye. Make the premises look fine; Get the habit—fall in line. Get a little civic pride. Then you'll be quite satisfied.

MILKMEN TO MEET; ANSWER TO AUSTIN

PRODUCERS' ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ANOTHER SESSION TO-NIGHT.—DESIRE ALL INTERESTED TO BE PRESENT.

NO "COMBINE" IN CITY

Manager of Gazette Printing Company, Commercial Club Publicity Committee Chairman, Has Statement.

The newly organized Janesville Milk Producers' association will hold another meeting tonight at the city hall at 7:50 o'clock. President W. O. Austin and other officers request that all having anything to do with the production of milk in the vicinity of Janesville, be present.

Following up the statement of Mr. Austin, made at the meeting of the producers' organization Wednesday evening, that the Janesville Commercial club, the Gazette and the Janesville retail milk dealers were working against the milk producers of Janesville in the vicinity of Janesville, the manager of the Gazette Printing Company and chairman of the publicity committee of the Commercial club today issued the following statement:

"The statement credited to W. O. Austin, as president of the Milk Producers' association, at a meeting held in the city hall Wednesday evening, September 27th, that the Janesville Commercial club, the Gazette and the retail milk dealers of the city were in a combine to thwart the interests of the milk producers of the vicinity, is too erroneous and far-fetched as to impress a fair minded person in that manner. But to correct this impression which might be created in the minds of some people and to give Mr. Austin the benefit of the correct standing of those interests which Mr. Austin has named together, I might repeat the situation in so far as the Commercial club and the Gazette are concerned in the welfare of the agricultural community of the county."

"It might be well at this point to state that while the writer was not present at the meeting, he understands that Mr. Austin was not really sincere in the statements made, but rather qualified it to some of those who were present by stating that he desired to 'start' something at the meeting. Dating back some years ago, I might state that the Gazette, of which the writer has the honor of being business manager, expended about seven or eight hundred dollars in actual cash to bring about a better production of corn through the creation of corn contests between the young farmers of the county. This work was taken up by the Commercial club of Janesville at an annual expenditure of several hundred dollars, and this has been merely a part of the work which the Commercial club supported for the benefit of the community as a whole, both rural and town interests."

Speaking for everything of benefit to the masses on all occasions, and will continue to do so, whether it be rural or town interests. The Commercial club: Some few years ago when the Footville Condensory was in financial straits, J. L. Fisher appeared before the club to see if some money could be made through the interest of the club to take care of the milk which had been going to that institution. Steps were taken immediately through the proper committee of the club to help the club looking toward that end; but before anything definite had been brought about, conditions of the Footville plant had improved and the plant continued, so far as the writer knows, to dispose of their product to that concern."

Later, and in fact about a year ago, the Oatman Condensory of Dundee, Illinois, made certain overtures to the Commercial club relative to the location of a condensory in Janesville. The Commercial club immediately sent its secretary to Chicago to arrange with the O. & N. W. Ry. for a site upon their line in the city of Janesville. Arrangements were completed and the Commercial club was ready to go with the representatives of the Oatman institution among the farmers to secure milk contracts. When it was learned that this concern had been dealing in the same manner with Beloit and other cities and towns. In fact, Beloit had gone so far as to have the business people secure milk contracts for some 50,000 pounds of milk."

"These afterwards were disposed of in order to conserve the interests of the business people with the farmers of that city. The Oatman condensory proposed, however, so far as the writer knows, has never been erected, and the statement made to the Commercial club at Janesville was that the condensory could not be brought to a town as large as either Janesville or Beloit."

"The Oatman condensory proposition that has been presented has been followed through by the Commercial club with the idea of securing such an institution in the city. If it were possible to do so, in fact, recently Secretary P. V. Kuhn has held conferences with the milk agent of the O. & N. W. Ry. on this subject, going over figures and making a plan of view to securing a plant which is said to be ready to locate if conditions are favorable."

"It would be the height of nonsense for the Commercial club to object to the use of the business interests of the city, retail and otherwise, to not wish the farmers to do well. The higher prices which this project would bring to the farmers, the greater the trade from the agriculturalist. That is one of the prime reasons for the fostering of corn contests and other projects which encourage the neighborly feeling and which the community exercises are bringing about."

"The writer knows nothing regarding the retail milk dealers' affairs. They are able to take care of these matters and have never appeared in any way to the Commercial club, so far as I know, in any of the business circles which are doubtless present as with those of any business institution these days."

"I might add that I have been connected with the Commercial club of the city of Janesville as a director and as a member of the advisory board for a number of years, and have yet to know of any of the business interests of the rural community of Rock county."

"As a suggestion, I am sure the Commercial club would co-operate in locating a milk plant here, if the association would gather statistics and figures necessary to the supply which nature thought Mr. Austin might realize that his statements lack foundation in fact."

"Chairman Publicity Committee, Janesville Commercial Club."

QUARTER'S WATER TAX UNDER NEW REDUCTION

CITY ANNOUNCES DECISION TO MAKE REDUCED RATES EFFECTIVE FOR PAST THREE MONTHS

BIG SAVINGS ARE SEEN

Consumers With Meters Expected—Means Twenty Per Cent Decrease in Water Bills

Paying up his September bills this morning, a man dropped into the water department of the city hall to learn if it would be possible to pay his water bill on a reduced rate. He was told that if he was a meter user, he would be able to pay nine dollars and sixty cents less this quarter than for the one previous. His last water bill was $14.50. This one called for but $4.90.

The city has sprung a surprise on water consumers, those using meters. Plans originally were to await until the quarter beginning tomorrow before putting in effect the new twenty per cent reduction decided upon more than a month ago. They have made it effective for this last quarter. The city has been asked to pay for water bills within a period of eighteen months or two years at least there is sure to be quite a noticeable rush to have the gauges installed.

With the new meter rates in operation this quarter big savings will be given to the installation of meters. When consumers on flat rates realize that the cost of the meter will be more than paid for in the saving in water bills within a period of eighteen months or two years at least there is sure to be quite a noticeable rush to have the gauges installed.

Those who do not have meters, are paying almost twice as much as the man who has the meter. Flat and resident owners who do not have meters, will this morning to pay their bills, in the majority of cases, ordered meters installed immediately. There is a supply on hand of the new meters and the city has been ordered and will be here during the latter part of next week.

The city makes no profit on the machine, selling it to the consumer at factory cost.

In the matter of the city ordering meters installed Mayor Fatherson has a plan that will be a course most beneficial. This, however, he stated recently, will not come at the present time but will come at a later date, perhaps in the course of a year.

The plan now is, the city will place meters in all buildings not having them. Privately owned meters will be purchased from the owners at a 25 per cent discount below the original cost. The average life of the meter is said to be from ten to twelve years, but a number in the city today have been constantly kicking off the original cost. The average life of the meter is said to be from ten to twelve years, but a number in the city today have been constantly kicking off the original cost.

Commissioner Cummings today advised consumers not to attempt to figure their bills from the table appearing on their backs. These figures covered consumption under the old rate. The decision to place the new rate in effect for this quarter came so short a while ago that it was impossible to have the new slips ready for use at this time.

Lower Rates, More Water. With a meter with a 1/2-inch lead pipe the first 1,000 cubic feet cost $1.75. For each additional one hundred cubic feet the charge is fifteen cents up to 10,000 gallons. This basis is the minimum in force in Janesville. The scale on upward is as follows:

Cu. Ft.	Per 100 cu. ft.
Next 9,000	15c
Next 40,000	12c
Next 50,000	10c
Next 100,000	8c
Next 200,000	6c
All over 400,000	5c

Thus, it can be seen that the first 1,000 feet per quarter for all sizes of meters is a low rate to be consumed under the minimum charge. Minimum charges per annum for the various sized meters are as follows:

Size of meter	Per annum
1/2-inch meter	$7.00
3/4-inch meter	8.00
1-inch meter	9.00
1 1/2-inch meter	12.00
2-inch meter	15.00
3-inch meter	25.00
4-inch meter	45.00

RURAL TEACHERS HOLD BIG RALLY

Over One Hundred Teachers Present at Educational Enthusiasm Rally Here.

Considerable over a hundred Rock county teachers were present at today's sessions of the fourth educational enthusiasm rally held at the high school in this city. A large proportion of the number were from the rural districts, for the meeting was especially to consider the problems of a country school.

A most excellent program was arranged. Superintendent Faust, Principal Sheafar, Miss Amy Bronsky, Superintendent O. D. Antisdel and other gave talks on pertinent subjects connected with the administration of the rural school. The session was marked by the great number of questions asked and the discussions often precipitated by these questions. The teachers were intensely interested in the work and entered into the spirit of the affair with enthusiasm.

F. J. Louth, principal of the teachers' training school, under whose auspices the meeting was conducted, stated that it was easily the most successful event of its kind ever held in the county, not only from the standpoint of numbers, but from the interest shown by all present. It follows a program of the speakers:

START FORECLOSURE OF DEFUNCT CONCERN

Rock County Telephone Co. Starts Action Against Eadger Telegraph and Telephone Company.

The Rock County Telephone company, of this city, has instituted foreclosure proceedings against the Eadger Telegraph and Telephone company, through H. D. Murdoch, trustee of the trust deed given to secure an issue of bonds. The papers were filed yesterday in the office of the Clerk of the Rock county circuit court, by Thos. S. Nolan, attorney for the plaintiff.

The bonds were issued in 1914, soon after the Badger Telegraph & Telephone company was organized. According to the complaint, the Rock county Telephone company is now the owner of all the outstanding bonds. The principal office of the Badger Telegraph & Telephone company was originally located in Milwaukee, but was removed to this city, where they are at the present time.

It was understood that this action was instituted to clear up the title of the property.

OILING ASSESSMENTS WILL BE READY SOON

Rush of Work in City Engineer's Office Has Delayed City Treasurer in Securing Figures.

City Treasurer George W. Muenchow is figuring up special assessments to property for oiling of the present season. Today he stated that these assessments would be ready within a few days for collection. It is expected that the payment of the quarter's water tax during the next week will be an impetus to oiling assessment payment also, since the city treasurer's office and that of the water department are almost adjacent.

The computing of the oiling assessments has been held back several weeks this year, due to the great amount of work in the department of the city engineer. Mr. Kerch has been unable to get out the work for the city treasurer to secure his assessment figures from.

RALLY DAY SERVICES AT METHODIST CHURCH

Rally day exercises will be held at the M. E. church Sunday morning, taking the place of the usual church and Sunday school services. All children of the Sunday school are requested to be present promptly at ten o'clock.

Union Meeting: The general chairman of the four train service organizations will be in Janesville Sunday, Oct. 1, and "union meeting" will be held at 1 p. m. East Side I. O. O. F. hall for the purpose of imparting such information as they may have relative to the cooperative wage territories of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware, and Rhode Island. The population is estimated at about 700,000, which is about 35 people per square mile, while Haiti, its neighbor on the west, has about 200 square miles and Porto Rico has more than 300. Most of the fertile land of the country is still virgin.

Individual Drinking Cups. The day of the common drinking cup is about past. However, there are some places which persist in the practice. One dipper or cup to serve the entire student body is the reason why so many colds and other diseases are so easily transmitted among school children. Individual drinking cups ought to be insisted upon in all of our school work.—The Progressive Farmer.

ALLEGED SYRACUSE SWINDLER CAUGHT IN SOUTH AMERICA

Side Lights ON THE Circus Business

By D. W. Watt
Former Manager Burr
Robbins and Later
Treasurer of Adam Forepaugh Circuses.

In the Literary Digest, a high class magazine published in New York and London in a four column article giving in minute detail the long and useful work of my old friend, Toddy Robinson, how he worked the great newspapers of the country for free advertising, even after they had refused to publish anything that pertained to the circus, and on his retirement from business, a banquet was tendered him by the New York newspaper.

Nine years ago Toddy Robinson retired from active duties as press agent for Barnum & Bailey, and instead of marking the change by giving a complimentary dinner to the newspaper men, who had accepted his copy long enough to make him a dinner to him. At that dinner, among other things, he said:

"In my long, useful, faithful, funny and fashionable career as circus press agent, I have no vain regrets and no reason to keep my awake nights. I can be down with the clear conscience of a man who had done his duty. I have grabbed more space for nothing than any other man you know. The editor, you are, as regular, sensitive newspaper men and future publishers, justified in gathering here tonight to entertain me with a beautiful feast in celebration of my retirement from business."

Possibly the most widely known and best advertised drink before the public for many years, is the pink lemonade, and possibly few people know but little about where it originated, or who the man was that first introduced it.

An old friend of mine and a constant reader of the Side Lights, handed me the following story a few days ago, saying: "Have, here is something that might interest you, which was sent to me by an old friend, but I will not vouch for its truthfulness."

Away back in the 60's Adam Forepaugh's circus from Philadelphia, which then rather small affair, strayed so far away from civilization that it ran slap into the great American desert. A small, quiet town, and the lemonade man who occupied a space in the animal tent, could not procure any for love nor money. He was in despair. It was during the afternoon performance that on going to the horse tent, W. H. A. Tobey, one of the attaches of the show, noticed a red blanket full into the barrel of drinking water. It was dyed a deep pink, and the horses would not drink it. More in fun than anything else, Tobey called the lemonade man and told him he could have a barrel of pink water. Nobody suspected what a hit it would make. That night pink lemonade made its first appearance, and it has been an indispensable adjunct of circuses ever since.

F. H. Jackman, of this city, returned last week from an extended vacation spent in the northern part of the state and at Potosky, Michigan. He met an old friend of mine, with whom he spent many pleasant hours, listening to the stories that this man would tell of the forty years or more that he put in the circus business. His name is John Wilson, and he bears the distinction of traveling thirty-seven years with the Uncle John Robinson Show of Cincinnati. Mr. Wilson joined the show when he was but thirteen years of age, worked on the candy stands, and was errand boy, and one that could always be depended upon. He grew up in the business until he became door tender, ticket agent and assistant manager, and although he was never on the salary list, Wilson was always paid more than anyone connected with the Robinson Show.

Wilson is now a man of seventy-four years of age, enjoys splendid health and for the past eighteen years has spent several weeks every fall in and around Potosky, Michigan. Although he had known Wilson for many years, I lost track of him long ago, and the details furnished me by Mr. Jackman, were welcome news.

There are three of the Robinson boys still living, John, F. O. and Charlie, all of whom still make their home in Cincinnati.

John Wilson retired from the business several years ago and makes his home at the Hotel Savoy in Cincinnati where he prides himself on knowing all the prominent business men in the city, and he said: "While I don't know all of the new boys in Cincinnati, the new boys know me." For many years Mr. Wilson was a close personal friend of the late Richard McLean, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mr. Wilson said that in 1861 the Robinson show showed in Chicago for one week, and their tents were pitched right where the city hall now stands. While he never kept a diary, he can recall many interesting incidents that happened back in the 60's and 70's when the Robinson show was a giant in the business, and no circus that ever traveled was so popular through the southern country as was that of Old Uncle John Robinson.

A few years ago the sons saw fit to sell the show, and it passed into other hands, the price being $75,000.

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

The musical comedy, "The Elopers," which Frederick Herendeen will present at the New Myers Theatre on Tuesday evening, October 3rd, is just about as fine an entertainment as anybody could wish for. All doubt about the foregoing statement may be dispelled for Mr. Herendeen has provided a company of fifty people, most of whom are bright, vivacious, pretty girls, and a cast of principal players, Ward DeVoll and including such favorite players as Josephine Kernell, Bing Cushman, Hazel Jameson, Julian Rubell, Carrie Weller, Charles Fredericks and several others.

The music by Hugo Frey contains many haunting bits of jingle and melody, several of which are bound to be the season's best "whistles," while the lyrics contributed by Mr. Herendeen are far above the usual inanities to which musical comedy audiences have been compelled to listen. The book is the best of several offered at various times by the late Arthur Gillespie and George Stoddard and contains lots of things for intelligent laughter, lots of things American and timely, lots of things witty and original. The play has been excellently staged and the performance is kept at an agreeable pace and everything matches. The tunes match the music, the girls match the atmosphere and the costumes, numerous and beautiful, match the girls. Taken altogether the offering is of such variety and extent that the most captious are bound to find something in it to amuse and entertain.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

Many of the foremost artists of the stage have found it impossible to present their comedy upon the screen with any degree of success, but Max Frazan and Lolita Robertson fairly sang through their parts. Both are gifted comedians, and through their expert work in this ancient art they simply expression taking the place of the spoken word.

Mr. Frazan has been for many years one of the leading figures on the American stage. He has appeared in scores of notable Broadway productions. Since his advent into the realm of the silent drama, he has been a success. His success was the lead in the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" series. Mrs. Robertson, who in private life is Mrs. Frazan, is a star in her own right, on both the stage and screen.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

When Warren Kernigan goes into vaudeville, a well probably be in a playlet written by his sister, Kathleen Kernigan?

Hazel Dawn will not be the only star in "The Century Girl," who has been in pictures?

Among other members of "The Century Girl" cast are Elsie Janis, Sam Bernard, Marie Dressler and Eddie Roy.

Franklin Farnum is not a brother of William, Dustin and Marshall Farnum?

Ruby Holmes, husband of Gerda Holmes, who directed and acted, is supporting Willie Collier in "Nothing But the Truth" on Broadway?

Cleo Ridgely will not play opposite Lou Tellegen in his third picture, as the role is that of a Spanish girl and Cleo is decidedly blond?

Bessie Love took a "header" over a horse's head during the filming of "The Debutante." She was not seriously injured.

Marjorie Flecher is the latest to inspire the muse? "The Roses Have No Thorns" is the result.

Bobby Connelley, the youngster who played "Sonny Jim," a novel now on sale?

DO EVE STUNT? NOT MUCH.

Now that Eileen Herendeen, one movie star, has heard the call of Pan and departed into the woods to live on berries and other things, Doris Kearan, another film favorite, is packing her trunk about to do the same.

They say Blanche Sweet is just awfully happy because Marshall Neilan is to direct her, and that Mr. Neilan is most awfully happy, too.

The trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice."

The last act of "Camille."

The last act of "L'Aiglon."

The last act of "Adrienne Lecouvreur."

"The Trial of Joan of Arc," a two act play by Emile Moreau.

The following one act sketches: "The Death of Cleopatra," by Maurice Bernhardt and Henry Cain; "One of Them," by Lysiane Bernhardt; "The Window," by Rene Ranchois, and "The False Model," by a French officer serving at the front.

The Remedy.

"Would you like some tonic on your hair?" asked the barber. "I've got something here that will positively stop it from coming out." "I don't believe it," said the man in the chair. "The only thing that will stop my hair from coming out is a divorce."

Makes a Difference.

If a man falls down a stairway in his home and breaks a leg he figures that the damage is two weeks in bed and the doctor's fee. If the same man stubs his toe and falls down in a street car he figures that the damage is easily $10,000.

Peculiar Idea Some Have.

Some men's idea of a good time is a time in which they haven't time to be good.

The opening performance will be in "Monte Carlo" after a short stay in the Eastern Canada she will go to the Knickerbocker theatre in New York. Her complete repertoire follows:

"From the Theatre to the Field of Honor," a one act play.

"Recube," a one act play by Maurice Bernhardt and Rene Chavance.

"The Burnt Offering," a one act play by M. Bernhardt.

"The Interrupted Dinner," a one act play by Paul Bertony.

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Can you tell me if tobacco smoking really affects a person's nerves? I am a cigar smoker and I feel very unwell. I desire to give up the habit, but it seems that I cannot feel utterly lost without them. Do you think I could enjoy better health if I left them strictly alone?

Many people think I am beautiful. I am in love with a Catholic young man. I have not been made acquainted with him. My friend knows his sister and she said that if she could she would try to get his sister to speak a good word for me but the sister is so proud that she thinks no one is good enough for her brother and she does not want to get an introduction to me for fear that I will get the best of her and gain her brother's affection. Should I get up parties and gain his friendship that way?

It is not a girl's place to seek the acquaintance of a young man. The sister, knowing this, probably thought you were not the kind of a girl she would care to know or have her brother know, since you were putting yourself out to meet him. Don't give parties or try in any way to become acquainted; if you do the boy will not respect you. Some day you may receive an introduction without any effort on your part.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My hair has been coming out by handfuls lately. Would this be due to nursing a baby (three months old) and being rather run down from an extra hard summer? Or is it apt to be caused by other things? What would be a good simple home remedy for this trouble? Do you think it will stop coming out so badly when I am rested?

A run-down physical condition would make your hair come out quicker than anything else. You can, however, stop the falling by faithful treatment. Wash the hair in pure castile soap melted in hot water. Massage, after drying, with liquid vaseline. Move the fingers from the wrist when loosening the scalp from the head. This is the best way to stop hair from falling, because the massage starts circulation of the blood. Use more massage than grease and do not allow the vaseline to spread over the hair, as it collects dust and makes the hair dull and soiled-looking. Give your hair a daily fresh air bath, too. Go out in the sun and brush it thoroughly.

Ask for the information you want concerning hardwood floors at a furniture or hardware store. My column is for heart and beauty.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty-three, and a Protestant.

There is no upshot and no end to this. The way must be traveled. The way must be traveled. The way must be traveled.

Do not, under any consideration, leave your home city on the promise of some position. Very few players who are not in stock would be able to live on what they make unless their homes are situated close by.

Then, too, be careful to dress in a quiet manner and spurn all manner of cosmetics. They make one more attractive only for the time being.

Sometimes after I have read my mail I think that every young girl in America must be seeking a motion picture career. And then I just wish that I might draw them to me and whisper a little cold reasoning to them.

We can't all do the same things, friends. While I am successful at acting for the pictures, you doubtless are far better off doing some other task which must be performed. And—before you follow your determination be very sure that you are not making a mistake, won't you?

YALE GRADUATE MARRIES
MISS THOMPSON OF NEW YORK
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
New York, Sept. 30.—Miss Margaret B. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thompson of New York, today became the bride of Theodore Schulze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Schulze of St. Paul, Minn. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's father.

Cold Water Biscuit—One cup yeast, one cup cold water, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half cup lard, a little salt. Mix stiff with flour at night. Set down cellar until morning, then make it into buns. Let rise and bake in hot oven. These are very light and good.

Green Tomato Mince—One peck green tomatoes, one-half peck apples, one pound seeded raisins, one pound currants, one-half pound citron, one-fourth pound lemon peel, one pound best suet, three pounds brown sugar, three oranges, one lemon, one cup sugar, one tablespoon each of nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon and allspice, one quart cider. Chop tomatoes, let stand over night, then drain and colander. Chop suet and apples fine. Mix all together and boil two hours. Seal in sterilized quart jars.

Mustard Pickles—Three large peppers (red to small pieces), two small onions (small), fifty small cucumbers, one quart wax beans, two large heads cauliflower, five cents' worth dry mustard, eight cups cider vinegar, one and one-half cups flour, two pounds sugar, two teaspoons turmeric. Prepare vegetables and put in salt water over night. Next day parboil each separately in weak salt water for minutes. Let vinegar come to boil. Have flour, sugar and mustard mixed in a smooth paste and pour all over pickles, put all on stove and heat through and put in sterilized glass jars.

THE TABLE
Lobster or Oyster Cocktail—Arrange lobster meat on heated lettuce leaves in individual complete dishes. Make a sauce as follows for each person: two tablespoons tomato catsup, one teaspoon finely grated horseradish, pinch of salt, dash of cayenne pepper, a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar. This sauce will also do for oyster cocktail.

Gold Cake—Rub together one cup granulated sugar and one-third cup butter to a cream. Take yolks of four well-beaten eggs, three-fourths cup sweet milk, 1½ cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Bake a tiny cake to determine quantity of flour, as different brands of flour vary in weight, so if a little more is required it can be added before cake is baked. Stir batter thoroughly to make a fluffy cake. The whites of the eggs may be used for a silver cake, for prune whip, or a meringue for a pudding. If directions are followed the cake always is satisfactory.

WANTS MATERNITY KITS FOR BABIES MADE FATHERLESS

Miss Caroline Dawes Appleton.

Miss Caroline Dawes Appleton, founder of "Friends of Childhood," has sent out a nation-wide call from Washington, D. C., for maternity kits for Belgian and French babies who will be born while their fathers are away at the front. The women of these warring nations, she says, are sadly in need of the materials which go to make up the maternity kits.

Household Hints

BREADS.
Peanut Butter Bread—Mix three cups whole wheat flour, half cup sugar, one and one-half level teaspoons salt, eight level teaspoons baking powder, add three-fourths cup peanut butter, rubbing it in with the fingers, mix thoroughly. Beat one egg, add it to one and one-half cups milk and add this to dry mixture. Mix thoroughly, pour into well-greased bread pan and stand twenty minutes. Bake in moderate heat not over forty minutes. This bread is easily made and is a change from the every-day white bread.

Nut Bread—Two cups flour, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one tablespoon lard, five-eighths cup milk (or half milk and water), three-fourths cup finely chopped nut meats. Sift dry materials into large mixing bowl, cut in the lard with a knife, add egg beaten until light, and nut meats; mix thoroughly. Pour into a greased loaf tin and bake in a moderate oven until done (about fifty minutes). This is the most delicious and makes a change in the bread used for sandwiches.

Brain Bread—After trying several recipes for brain bread, have found this one to be exceptionally good. It is very appetizing. Mix together two cups bran, one cup white flour (not sifted before measuring), one cup light brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, one egg (unbeaten), one cup sour or buttermilk to which one level teaspoon soda has been added, one-half cup raisins. Stir all together and bake fifty minutes in a loaf pan. This makes a loaf nine by four and one-half by four and one-half. Would advise making one loaf this size at a time, as it dries out or becomes soggy after four or five days. Raisins may be omitted.

CANNING AND PRESERVING.
Crabapple Pickles—Wash firm crabapples. To each pound of crabapples take half pound sugar, one quart vinegar. Stick one clove in each apple. Put all on stove to cook. When apples are tender, put in jars and seal over them. These will keep in unsealed jars.

Pear Preserves—Peel, core and quarter one-half peck pears. Put in cold water enough to cover and parboil fifteen or twenty minutes, then add your sugar to them just as they are—don't pour off water. Use one cup sugar to two cups of fruit, juice of one large lemon, one tablespoon whole cloves and five or six pieces of stick cinnamon. Let all boil until soft and clear. Put two pieces of cinnamon in each jar. Can while hot.

Green Tomato Mince—One peck green tomatoes, one-half peck apples, one pound seeded raisins, one pound currants, one-half pound citron, one-fourth pound lemon peel, one pound best suet, three pounds brown sugar, three oranges, one lemon, one cup sugar, one tablespoon each of nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon and allspice, one quart cider. Chop tomatoes, let stand over night, then drain and colander. Chop suet and apples fine. Mix all together and boil two hours. Seal in sterilized quart jars.

Mustard Pickles—Three large peppers (red to small pieces), two small onions (small), fifty small cucumbers, one quart wax beans, two large heads cauliflower, five cents' worth dry mustard, eight cups cider vinegar, one and one-half cups flour, two pounds sugar, two teaspoons turmeric. Prepare vegetables and put in salt water over night. Next day parboil each separately in weak salt water for minutes. Let vinegar come to boil. Have flour, sugar and mustard mixed in a smooth paste and pour all over pickles, put all on stove and heat through and put in sterilized glass jars.

THE TABLE
Lobster or Oyster Cocktail—Arrange lobster meat on heated lettuce leaves in individual complete dishes. Make a sauce as follows for each person: two tablespoons tomato catsup, one teaspoon finely grated horseradish, pinch of salt, dash of cayenne pepper, a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar. HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

SALICYLIC ACID AND SALICYLATES

Salicylic acid is present in oil of wintergreen, but can be made from carbolic acid for commercial uses. It is an antiseptic locally applied or taken internally. It is seldom given internally nowadays, except in nostrums, because, while cheap, it is irritating to mucous membranes. The salicylates produce identical effects and are less irritating. Sodium salicylate is most common used. As aspirin is a derivative or modification of salicylic acid.

Drugs of the salicylic acid group, taken internally, possess more or less pain. Also they tend to depress the heart, cause ringing in the ears, sweating, lowering of fever and interference with the digestive process. Hence care must be exercised in deciding upon the dosage and frequency of administration.

These drugs exert an antiseptic influence in the digestive tract and in the urinary tract. They likewise possess an antiseptic influence in the biliary tract. Hence they are much employed in the treatment of various ailments where such effects may be desired.

Sodium salicylate so markedly relieves the pain and soreness accompanying such ailments as tonsillitis, quincy, influenza, "grippe," neuritis and arthritis ("rheumatism"), that it is commonly supposed to be antirheumatic, though there is no reason to believe it does more than temporarily relieve the pain.

The salicylates likewise enjoy a vogue in the relief of headache and neuralgia. Perhaps they are preferable to the ordinary "migraine" or "headache" tablets or powders, which contain acetanilide, phenacetin or other dangerous drugs.

It is believed that in ten years of age about three grains of sodium salicylate is sufficient for a dose. For a person of adult age from five to fifteen grains may be given. The dose may be repeated two or three times a day, provided no dizziness, stomach irritation, excessive sweating or ringing in the ears is produced. While tablets are convenient, the medicine is more acceptable if given in solution in a large amount of water, or in a simple elixir. It has a sweetish, hot, acrid taste.

As a pain relieving medicine it is the least objectionable one we have for occasional resort. As a cure it is of very doubtful value, except indirectly.

The following queries are partly answered by the foregoing:

NET GAIN, A WEEK.

One simply can't help getting used to blessings. Two years ago I spent the summer at a beautiful country place.

When we first established ourselves there, we were impressed at our good fortune at being able to spend the whole summer at such a lovely place.

We were sure we would be perfectly happy every minute, and that we wouldn't forget for a day how very lucky we were.

I suppose you are wondering how long it was before we began to take it all for granted.

Oh, a week, perhaps, or maybe two. Last summer, on the other hand, we spent the bulk of the time in town, only making brief visits to the country.

BLAMES U. S. WOMEN FOR INFERIOR FOOD STANDARDS IN ARMY

Mrs. Flora McDonald Thompson.

"The government supplies to the army excellent food material in sufficient quantity, but for lack of proper standards of cooking it is a question how far the U. S. army would go in a war," says Mrs. Flora McDonald Thompson, president of the Washington (D. C.) Housekeepers' Alliance. Mrs. McDonald blames this lack of proper cooking standards not on the army nor on the government, but on the women of the country who refuse to study the science of food preparation.

PIMPLES ON FACE BURN AND ITCH

Became Worse and Worse, Face Disfigured, In Blotches, Were Red and Scaled Over.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had pimples on my face which gradually became worse and worse all the time. They burned and itched and I would wake up often at night and my face would burn dreadfully and I was obliged to disfigure for the time being.

At first the pimples were in blotches but gradually scattered, and they were red and festered and also scaled over.

"Then I got some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. At first I put the Cuticura Ointment on and then I bathed my face with warm water and Cuticura Soap and I had used them more than two weeks till I noticed a change and now my face is entirely healed." Training a Husband

"Morris, I know you are good-hearted, but goodness that does not show through the burr is only half good; at least it is not effective goodness. It will not influence your children for good; it will not make your family happy. Surely you believe that it is part of your work as husband and father."

"I am amazed, Marian, that you persist in treating me as if I were a child," blurted out the husband in an injured tone.

"What do you understand sin to be, dear?" asked Marian softly.

"Why, willfully doing what we know to be evil," promptly responded Morris.

"Is not sin sometimes to fail to will? to allow ourselves to drift into habits that we know to be wrong simply because it is easy to drift and hard to force our way up stream?"

"By which you mean?"—Morris looked at his wife with a challenging fierceness.

"Your manner of speaking to the children hurts me inexpressibly," began Marian, with an effort. "It is not so much what you say, as the way you say it. It hurts me every moment of our stay, and enjoyed each approaching visit in anticipation as well as reality."

And we felt sure we had learned a lesson.

"If we ever go away for the summer again," we said, "we will appreciate our good fortune, we won't take it for granted."

That was last summer. This past season we spent the summer in the country again.

And we were so sure we wouldn't forget.

How long did our lesson last us? Oh, two weeks, perhaps, or maybe three. A net gain of a week.

The moral? Well, here are two of them—there may be more.

In the first place, don't blame people with more luxuries than you have for not being made happy by them and for constantly wanting more.

They can't help taking their Luxuries For Granted.

They can't help taking the measure of luxury they are accustomed to for granted any more than you can yours. The only way to get any great measure of happiness out of money would be to start poor and to keep on always having a little more, and still a little more.

The other moral is this—it is the natural instinct to take things for granted, but if you do, you don't get half so much savour out of them. So, forcibly shake yourself out of that mood once in a while. You can fight against that instinct as well as others, and it's worth fighting against.

TO GET INTO THE MOVIES.

There is no upshot and no end to this. The way must be traveled. The way must be traveled. The way must be traveled.

Do not, under any consideration, leave your home city on the promise of some position. Very few players who are not in stock would be able to live on what they make unless their homes are situated close by.

Then, too, be careful to dress in a quiet manner and spurn all manner of cosmetics. They make one more attractive only for the time being.

Sometimes after I have read my mail I think that every young girl in America must be seeking a motion picture career. And then I just wish that I might draw them to me and whisper a little cold reasoning to them.

We can't all do the same things, friends. While I am successful at acting for the pictures, you doubtless are far better off doing some other task which must be performed. And—before you follow your determination be very sure that you are not making a mistake, won't you?

YALE GRADUATE MARRIES
MISS THOMPSON OF NEW YORK
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
New York, Sept. 30.—Miss Margaret B. Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thompson of New York, today became the bride of Theodore Schulze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Schulze of St. Paul, Minn. The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's father.

Cold Water Biscuit—One cup yeast, one cup cold water, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half cup lard, a little salt. Mix stiff with flour at night. Set down cellar until morning, then make it into buns. Let rise and bake in hot oven. These are very light and good.

Green Tomato Mince—One peck green tomatoes, one-half peck apples, one pound seeded raisins, one pound currants, one-half pound citron, one-fourth pound lemon peel, one pound best suet, three pounds brown sugar, three oranges, one lemon, one cup sugar, one tablespoon each of nutmeg, cloves, cinnamon and allspice, one quart cider. Chop tomatoes, let stand over night, then drain and colander. Chop suet and apples fine. Mix all together and boil two hours. Seal in sterilized quart jars.

Mustard Pickles—Three large peppers (red to small pieces), two small onions (small), fifty small cucumbers, one quart wax beans, two large heads cauliflower, five cents' worth dry mustard, eight cups cider vinegar, one and one-half cups flour, two pounds sugar, two teaspoons turmeric. Prepare vegetables and put in salt water over night. Next day parboil each separately in weak salt water for minutes. Let vinegar come to boil. Have flour, sugar and mustard mixed in a smooth paste and pour all over pickles, put all on stove and heat through and put in sterilized glass jars.

THE TABLE
Lobster or Oyster Cocktail—Arrange lobster meat on heated lettuce leaves in individual complete dishes. Make a sauce as follows for each person: two tablespoons tomato catsup, one teaspoon finely grated horseradish, pinch of salt, dash of cayenne pepper, a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar. This sauce will also do for oyster cocktail.

Gold Cake—Rub together one cup granulated sugar and one-third cup butter to a cream. Take yolks of four well-beaten eggs, three-fourths cup sweet milk, 1½ cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Bake a tiny cake to determine quantity of flour, as different brands of flour vary in weight, so if a little more is required it can be added before cake is baked. Stir batter thoroughly to make a fluffy cake. The whites of the eggs may be used for a silver cake, for prune whip, or a meringue for a pudding. If directions are followed the cake always is satisfactory.

CHAPTER XVII.

Duane followed the stage through the town, out into the open, on to a wide, hard-packed road showing years of travel. It headed northwest. To the left rose a range of low, bleak mountains he had noted yesterday, and to the right sloped the mesquite-patched sweep of ridge and flat. The driver pushed his team to a fast trot, which gait surely covered ground rapidly.

Early in the afternoon from a ridge-top Duane sighted Fairdale, a green patch in the mass of gray. For the banners of Texas it was indeed a fair sight. But he was more concerned with its remoteness from civilization than its beauty. At that time in the early twenties, when the east western rider of Texas was a wilderness, the pioneer had done wonders to settle there and establish places like Fairdale.

It needed only a glance for Duane to pick out Colonel Longstreth's ranch. The house, not more than a few minutes' walk from the edge of the town, was a low, two-story structure made of red adobe bricks. All was green about it, except where the fenced corral and numerous barns or sheds showed gray and red.

From all outside appearances Fairdale was no different from other frontier towns, and Duane's expectations were scarcely realized. As the afternoon was waning he halted at a little inn. A boy took charge of his horse. Duane questioned the lad about Fairdale and gradually drew to the subject most to mind.

"Colonel Longstreth has a big outfit, eh?"

"Reckon he has," replied the lad. "Don't know how many cowboys. They're always comin' and goin'. I ain't acquainted with half of them."

"Much movement of stock these days?"

"Stock's always movin'," he replied, with a queer look.

"Runners?"

But he did not follow up that look with the affirmative Duane expected. "Lively place, I hear—Fairdale is?"

"Ain't so lively as Sanderson, but it's bigger."

"Yes, I heard it was. Follow down there was talking about two cowboys who were arrested."

"Sure. I heard all about that. Joe Bean an' Brick Higgins—they belong here, but they ain't much much Longstreth's boys."

Duane did not want to be over-inquisitive, so he turned the talk into other channels.

After getting supper Duane strolled up and down the main street. When darkness set in he went into a hotel, bought cigars, sat around, and watched. Then he passed out and went into the next place. It was full of men coming and going—a dusty, crowded crowd that smelled of horses and smoke. Duane sat down for a while, with wide eyes and open ears. Then he hunted up the bar. He stayed in there for a while, and knew that strangers were too common in Fairdale to be conspicuous. Then he returned to the inn where he had engaged a room.

Duane sat down on the steps of the dingy little restaurant. Two men were conversing inside, and they had not noticed Duane.

"Laramie, what's the stranger's name?" asked one.

"He didn't say," replied the other. "Sure was a strapping big man. Struck me a little odd, he did. No gentleman, him. How'd you size him?"

"Well, like one of them cool, easy, quiet Texans who's been lookin' for a man for years—to kill him when he found him."

"Right you are, Laramie; and, between you an' me, I hope he's lookin' for Long—"

"S-sh!" interrupted Laramie. "You must be half drunk, or talkin' that way."

inside, and making himself agreeable, began to ask casual questions about Fairdale. Laramie was not communicative.

Duane went to his room in a thoughtful frame of mind. There was something wrong about the mayor of Fairdale. The innkeeper Laramie would be worth cultivating. And last in Duane's thoughts that night was Miss Longstreth. He could not help thinking of her—how strangely the meeting with her had affected him. It made him remember that long-past time when girls had been a part of his life. He had no right even to dream of a beautiful woman like Ray Longstreth.

Several days passed. Duane did not succeed in getting any closer to Laramie, but he found the idlers on the corners and in front of the stores unsuspicious and willing to talk. It did not take him long to find out that Fairdale stood parallel with Huntsville for gambling, drinking, and fighting. The street was always lined with dusty, saddled horses, the town full of strangers. Money appeared more abundant than in any place Duane had ever visited; and it was spent with the abandon that spoke forcibly of easy and crooked acquirement.

Duane decided that Sanderson, Bradford, and Ort were but notorious outposts of this Fairdale, which was a secret center of rustlers and outlaws. And what struck Duane strangest of all was the fact that Longstreth was mayor here and held court daily. In quiet he brought him the fact that Ray Longstreth had just come to live with his father. Longstreth had originally been a planter in Louisiana, where his family had remained after his advent in the West. He was a rich rancher; he owned half of Fairdale; he was a cattle-buyer on a large scale. Floyd Lawson was his lieutenant and associate in deals.

On the afternoon of the fifth day of Duane's stay in Fairdale he returned to the inn from his usual stroll, and upon entering was amazed to find a man sitting at the desk. "What's this?" he asked. "A stranger?"

"Yes, sir, you must be mistaken. We have seen no one. In the absence of my father I'm mistress here. I'll not permit you to search."

Lawson appeared to come out of his astonishment. He stepped forward. "Ray, don't be bothered now," he said, to his cousin. "This fellow's making a bluff. I'll settle him. See here, mister, you clear out!"

"I want Snecker. He's here, and I'm going to get him," replied Duane, quietly.

"Bah! That's all a bluff," sneered Lawson. "I'm on to your game. You just wanted an excuse to break in here—to see my cousin again. When you saw the company you invented that excuse. Now, be off, or it'll be the worse for you."

Duane felt his face burn with a tide of hot blood. Almost he felt that he was guilty of such motive. Had he not been unable to put this Ray Longstreth out of his mind?

"There seemed to be scorn in his eyes now. And somehow that checked his embarrassment."

"Miss Longstreth, will you let me search the house?" he asked.

"No."

"Then I regret to say—I'll do so without your permission."

"You'll not dare!" she flashed. She stood erect, her bosom swelling.

"Pardon me—yes, I will."

"Who are you?" she demanded, suddenly.

"I'm a Texas Ranger," replied Duane.

"A Texas Ranger!" she echoed. Floyd Lawson's dark face turned pale.

"Miss Longstreth, I don't need warrants to search houses," said Duane. "I'm sorry to annoy you. I'd prefer to have your permission. A ruffian has taken refuge here—in your father's house. He's hidden somewhere. May I look for him?"

"If you are indeed a ranger," Miss Longstreth haughtily refused to look at them.

"Miss Longstreth, I've come to make Fairdale a safer, cleaner, better place for women and children. I don't wonder at your resentment. But to doubt me—insult me. Some day you may be sorry."

Floyd Lawson made a violent motion with his hands.

"All stuff! Cousin, go on with your party. I'll take a couple of cowboys and go with this—this Texas Ranger."

"Thanks," said Duane coolly, as he eyed Lawson. "Perhaps you'll be able to find Snecker quicker than I could."

"What do you mean?" demanded Lawson, and now he grew livid. Evidently he was a man of quick passions.

"Don't quarrel," said Miss Longstreth. "Floyd you go with him. Please hurry. I'll be nervous till the man's found or you're sure there's not one."

They started with several cowboys to search the house. It struck Duane more than forcibly that Lawson tried to keep in the lead. It was Duane who peered into a dark corner and then, with a gun leveled, said "Come out!"

He came forth into the flare—a tall, slim, dark-faced youth, wearing sombrero, blouse and trousers. Duane collared him before any of the others could move and held the gun close enough to make him shrink.

He peered into Duane's face, then into that of the cowboy next to him, then into Lawson's and if ever in Duane's life he beheld relief it was then. That was all Duane needed to know, but he meant to find out more if he could.

"Who're you?" asked Duane, quietly.

"I'm Snecker," he replied, quietly.

Dinner Stories

The measles were making their annual round of the juvenile population of the community, and Flossie was very vexed because she didn't catch them. She felt that a nice little vacation was being denied her. One day she came rushing into the school-room, clapping her hands with delight.

"O Miss Nichols! They're coming down the avenue!"

"Who?" asked the teacher, hurrying to the window and looking for—she knew not what.

"The measles! Bessy Tubbs, right on our corner, has just got them, and now I'll be my turn next!"

When a certain colored man announced his engagement to his "lady friend," the congratulations that were showered upon him included a note of wonder.

"Joe," said one boon companion, "I should be surprised. We all never thought you'd speak up. It's going on two years since you began to call on Miss Violet."

"Dat's true," said Joe, "but de fact is, I didn't lose my job till last night."

Like most people who are gifted with a keen sense of humor, the bishop of London does not object to telling a good story even if it is against himself.

Here is one of his latest: "A little girl," says he, "was brought by her mother to hear me preach. Sheidgeted about and twisted this way and that through what no doubt seemed to her an interminable time."

"At last," she could stand it no longer. "Mummy," she exclaimed, "I'm tired. Can't the bishop go back to heaven now?"

De Pere, Wis. June 24th, 1912.

Dear Doctor:—I began treatment with you for my rupture on Feb. 15th, 1912, and have taken five treatments, and am now well. I have not seen anything of my rupture since my first treatment. I was operated on April 20th, 1911, for this rupture but the operation was not a success and my rupture returned again in January, 1912. I am glad that I have taken your treatment and only wish I had come to you in the first place. I have not suffered any severe pain or lost any time and can recommend your method to anyone wishing to be cured of rupture. You may refer to me at any time, anyone who wishes to learn of your method.

ADVERTISING AN AUCTION

In The Gazette is a sure guarantee of success.

Read this letter from Mr. Plumb of Avalon. Note what he thinks of Gazette advertising. If it paid him it will pay others.

Avalon, Wis., Sept. 29, 1916.

The Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sirs:—

As a result of the advertising I did in the Gazette for my auction, I had one of the most successful sales ever conducted in this vicinity. I had a big crowd, many of the buyers coming from various parts of the county. If I was to hold another sale I would not use a single bill, but I would spend that money in the Gazette. It would be better invested.

This sale totaled $3,500 of which $3,300 was spot cash. Sixty-one sheep averaged $11.50. Horses went as high as $200. Four calves less than a year old averaged $39.
The auctioneer, Col. Dooley, did mighty good work and was pleased with the attendance.

I would advise anyone contemplating a sale to advertise it well in the Gazette. It will then be a success.

Yours truly,

JAMES PLUMB.
